Panel backs sign ordinance

Plan would require registration of signs

By Bob State
Staff writer

After nearly three years of study, public comment and revisions of a proposed ordinance regulating signs in Granite City, the matter may soon come to a final vote.

The Granite City Plan Commission voted 7-2 Thursday night to recommend that the City Council adopt an ordinance regulating size, location, number and type of signs in the city.

The proposed 33-page ordinance also includes a section restricting the size and location of political campaign signs and the time when they may be displayed.

Except for traffic signs, signs inside buildings and informational signs promoting public safety, nearly every existing sign in the city would have to be registered with the zoning administrator within 180 days of adoption of the ordinance.

Signs that do not conform to regulations in the ordinance would be "grandfathered in" — that is, the sign would be allowed to remain for the natural life of the sign as long as it is not moved or enlarged.

If the use of a grandfathered sign is discontinued for a period of 30 days or more, then it must conform to the regulations before its use may be continued.

The Plan Commission began studying the issue in May 1991 to enhance the aesthetic appeal of the community and to eliminate hazards, such as signs that distract drivers and signs that could cause heavy damage if they fell.

But a number of business owners in the city vehemently

Six Mile 'frolics' set

"Spring Frolics" will be the theme of the Old Six Mile Historical Society dinner dance to be held at St. Gregory Armenian Hall on Saturday, March 19.

The evening will begin at 5:30 with cocktails and a silent auction. Dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by an entertainment program featuring the Granite City High School swing choir under the direction of Gail Miller.

Dancing to the music of the Note-A-Bles will begin at 7:30 and last until 11.

Tickets for the dinner dance at $12.50 per person are available from members of the Old Six Mile Historical Society or may be purchased at Tops 'N' Bottoms Shop, 1343 19th St.; the Chamber of Commerce office, 1831 Delmar Ave.; or by calling 876-7892 or 931-3023.

The Old Six Mile Museum, located at 3279 Maryville Road, is open to the public at no charge on Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. from May through December.

All proceeds from the annual dinner dance are used to maintain the museum.

Tough trash policy 'blessing to us'

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine's new get-tough policy on illegal dumping came at just the right time for Venice and Madison.

"It's a blessing to us and I'm going to get behind it 100 percent," said Venice Health Inspector John Henry Williams.

"We've got lots of people sneaking down here and dumping their trash. If I catch them, I'm going to get their license number and everything else. And I'm going to tell the police to be looking for illegal dumping, too."

Madison, just finishing an alley cleanup project, is also looking forward to seeing Haine's policy implemented, said Mayor John Bellico.

Madison is the site of several popular illegal dumping areas, including Race Street just north of Eagle Park and areas along Highway 203 just south of town.

"It's a real mess," Bellico

Choices aplenty for Democrats Tuesday

By Mike Myers
and Martin Richter

Democratic voters on Tuesday will decide a number of local races, but those picking up the Republican ballot will find the local offices dominated by "no candidate."

Voters will find only one local race on the Republican ballot: a fight between Jim Keshner and Michael W. Cordes for the 113th District nomination for the seat held by retiring Rep. Monroe Flinn, D-Cahokia.

Madison County State representative races, Page 5A
City Clerk Evelyn Bowles said the election features an unusually high number of contested races for a primary, particularly on the Democratic ticket.

"I'm looking for what I would consider an average turnout, about 30 or 32 percent," Bowles said last week. "There doesn't seem to be a lot of interest being generated."

Edwardsville and Granite City that have local referendums. Granite City voters will decide the future size of the City Council.

Venice names new alderman

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

George Wade, a longtime member of the Venice School Board, has been appointed as an alderman for Venice Ward 2 by Mayor Tyrone Echols.

Wade, who was sworn in at Tuesday's City Council meeting, replaces John Henry Williams, who resigned Dec. 31.

"It's going to take some time to learn the job first, but I feel like I can be an asset to the city," Wade said. "I look forward to serving the people."

Wade said that the city's small

35-year sentence in clerk's murder

A 16-year-old Troy youth's behavior in the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home may have hindered his chances of a minimum prison sentence in the shooting death of a Pontoon Beach quick shop employee.

David Keller slumped in his chair and sobbed Wednesday as Madison County Chief Circuit Judge Edward C. Ferguson sentenced him to 35 years in prison for the murder of 56-year-old Hugh Harrigan.

Keller was found guilty by a jury in September of first-degree murder and armed robbery.

Keller had testified that he sat in a car while his friends, Shaun

Jackowski and Lorenzo Long, shot Harrigan in the leg and chest while working behind the counter of the 7-Eleven store at Illinois 111 and Pontoon Beach Road Feb. 27, 1993.

Long, who made a plea bargain with prosecutors, testified at Keller's trial that it was Keller's idea to rob the store.

Steve Emerson, an assistant superintendent at the detention home, testified Wednesday that Keller had been placed in isolation several times for acting out gang signs. He said Keller resisted authority and was difficult to work with.

Man gets 50 years for rapes, shooting involving local girls

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Minutes before he was sentenced to 50 years in prison for the death of one man and the sexual assault and shooting of two Granite City girls in separate incidents, Terry "Cornbread" Graham said he wished "none of this had ever happened."

Graham, 19, of Belleville said he is not the terrible person he has been portrayed to be and admitted his acts had even caused him to forfeit his dreams of becoming a football player.

"I don't have that chance anymore because I was hanging with the wrong crowd," he said. "I cry every day. I'm not the type of person who says, 'So what, he's dead.'"

Graham shot Johnny Massey in the head after a fight over a drug deal, but he said he never meant to hurt Massey.

He also admitted raping two Granite City girls who were hitchhiking in East St. Louis in October 1991. Both girls were shot, but Graham said he was not the shooter.

"It wasn't meant for Johnny to get hurt or to leave this world or for the females to get hurt," he said. "I'm sorry it happened. I know it doesn't bring Johnny back or help the two girls, but there's good in everybody."

Circuit Judge Michael O'Malley agreed everyone has a good side, but said it is "up to every individual to conform his conduct...to avoid the darker side."

Graham has been repeatedly been unable to conform to the law. He has a remarkable inability to do the right thing," O'Malley said.

He cited Graham's extensive criminal history, including five juvenile offenses which would have qualified as felonies if he were an adult at the time.

One of the rape victims said she knew she should not have been in East St. Louis, but O'Malley said she had more right to be there than Graham.

Defense attorney Roger Hibbits argued that Graham had been a "good boy" until a near drowning in 1985. Graham, who was 10 at the time, was without a heartbeat for about 20 minutes before he was revived.

"No one can really explain it," he said. "He was essentially dead for a period of time and he never had any significant treatment for the problem."

Hibbits said Graham suffered brain damage from the accident but a clinical psychologist reported that Graham suffers no impairment to keep him from knowing right from wrong.

Assistant state's attorney Len Cleary said Graham had "run wild" for a period of time, but it was time he paid his dues.

"He's had his turn. Now it's society's turn to be protected from the actions of this defendant," he said.

Graham, who pleaded guilty to five Class X felonies, was specifically ordered to serve 10 years on each count which will consecutively, 50 years in the murder to run concurrently and 15 years on the armed robbery to run concurrently.

Suit's cost won't be revealed

Taxpayers are "paying the bill, but they won't get to see how deep they have to dig to cover a lawsuit against the county."

Madison County officials are keeping a tight lip on the settlement in a lawsuit filed on behalf of a former county jail prisoner.

The settlement contained a provision to keep the information confidential, an attorney for the county said, and that's not unusual, the judge in the case said.

"The county is a party to the agreement," said Edwardsville attorney John Gilbert, who has filed the case. "Both parties agreed to keep it confidential." The settlement, reached Jan. 6, was approved by the County Board.

Madison County Administrator Jim Monday said the county is bound to the agreement. He said County Board members approve settlements by case numbers and may not have known what lawsuit they were approving.

"I'm not an attorney, but I am under the impression once a judge accepts the settlement, the parties can't reveal it," Monday said.

The lawsuit, filed in 1990, sought more than $4 million in damages from the county, Sheriff Bob Churchill and seven jail employees.

The lawsuit alleged that the sheriff and his employees failed to separate Mark Uristo from inmates who reportedly beat him several times between August 1986 and January 1988.

Uristo, who suffers from mental illness, is now serving a 40-year prison sentence in Menard Correctional Center for the stabbing murder of Rebecca Rogers, 21, of Madison.

Madison County Auditor Fred Bathon said the settlement will be paid from the county's Tort Immunity Fund.

In addition to the monetary award, Gilbert said the settlement also called for the sheriff to reiterate his jail policies to his staff.

"It didn't call for new policies," Gilbert said. "It just called for the reiteration of existing policies to jail personnel. The sheriff already had a policy to segregate mentally deficient inmates. It's not uncommon."

Woman is charged in shooting

A 43-year-old Granite City woman was charged Friday with aggravated discharge of a firearm in connection with a shooting incident at March 3 in which a street bullet entered St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Bonnie Collison, of the 2100 block of Grand Avenue, was being held in the Madison County jail in lieu of $75,000 bond.

Collison is formally charged with shooting at a vehicle she knew to be occupied.

Police said when the incident occurred at about 1:45 p.m. March 3 that she had fired two shots at a pickup truck as it drove away from her home following a domestic dispute.

One of the bullets flew across Madison Avenue and entered a window in the kidney dialysis area near Niedringhaus Avenue.

A patient at the hospital was struck in the eye by broken glass from the window and treated in the emergency room.

United Way salutes past, charts second 50 years

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The Tri-Cities Area United Way kicked off its "second 50 years" Wednesday by honoring its volunteers over the last 50 years.

Surviving chairmen of past annual campaigns — including an officer from 1942 when the organization was known as the Community Chest and held its first campaign — were honored at the organization's annual meeting.

The United Way also elected new board members and officers at the meeting, held at noon at the Elks Lodge on Maryville Road.

Helen Bergfield, secretary of the Community Chest when it held its first campaign, recalled how relieved she was when Publisher-Editor E.E. Campbell wrote an editorial in 1941 in the Press-Record. He suggested that this area's charitable organizations unite to organize one large fund drive instead of each group asking for donations separately.

Bergfield was in charge of the Girl Scout drive at the time.

"It seemed like one of those four groups — the YMCA, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts or Seventeen former United Way drive general chairmen were on hand at the Tri-Cities Area United Way's 50-year meeting. the Salvation Army — was always campaigning," she told the audience.

"The drives came one after the other, and usually it was the same people who had just campaigned for one group that were out seeking donations for the other groups."

"By the time we got organized, the war effort was under way and all the husbands, sons and brothers were away. 'Everybody was willing to contribute to the Boy Scouts at that time, but (a prevailing attitude was) 'Who needs Girl Scouts?'" Bergfield said.

"Our (the Girl Scouts') goal was $2,500. We were considering a slogan, 'Every Boy Scout needs a Girl Scout,'" she recalled.

Judge Wesley Luaders was the chairman of that first united campaign. A goal of $50,000 was set for the four groups combined. The agencies collected $30,437 and the Girl Scouts got their $2,500.

Since that time, the Community Chest agency has been known as the Red Feather, the United Fund and then the United Way. It has been successful in soliciting more than $22 million and has grown from those four member agencies in 1942 to 37 service providers that will be allocated money this year.

In 1970, Granite City High School changed its dress code to allow female students to wear slacks. Songs protesting the Vietnam conflict were popular on the radio. A brand new Chevrolet Impala custom coupe sold for $2,700 at Matthews' Chevrolet, and Leo Konzen and George Becker chaired the United Fund campaign.

Konzen told the crowd of more than 150 gathered Wednesday that the United Way's success is due to a spirit of community service and teamwork.

"Dr. (Albert) Schweitzer, Mother Teresa and Martin Luther King were not successful because of wealth or position, but due to a spirit of service."

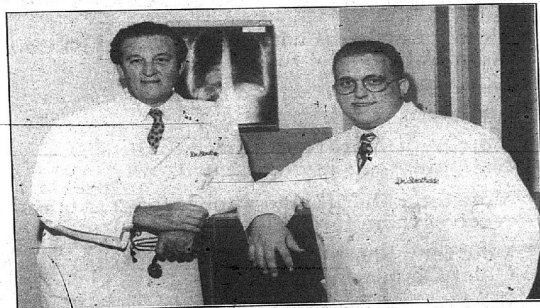

"Most of us are not as blessed with the energy, charisma and fire that they were, so we have to work as a team," Konzen said.

He said that generations — "not necessarily by blood" — of (See PAST, Page 8A)

Council seeks to run departments

TO THE EDITOR:
I just have to respond to the resignation of Jim Lenskyel as chief of the Granite City Police Department.
I feel this is a great loss to our police force, even though he will still be on the force. The morale of the department and discipline had returned. Good progress was made.
I was a police commissioner from 1975 to 1985. I watched him progress through the ranks.
I and the other two commissioners always thought that he would be chief someday. He showed that ability early on.
Now to lose him as chief, for the reasons he left, leaves a bad taste in my mouth.
Unfortunately, some of the aldermen and alderwomen seem to think that, if they are appointed chairmen of some committee, that gives them the right to run that department. We have seen the same tactics used on the street department.
I think that Mr. Charlie King said it best at the open hearing on the reduction of aldermen and alderwomen from 14 to seven. He remarked that, if the aldermen and alderwomen did the job they were elected for—to legislate and then let the mayor and department heads do their job—then seven aldermen and alderwomen would be enough.

Watching the council meetings on television, I have felt sorry for the abuse some of the elected department heads and elected officials have had to take from the City Council.
You would think that the council was more knowledgeable about the street department, assessor's office and now the police department, than those who run these offices.
If all these problems stem from budget shortfalls, maybe the council should have refrained from spending that $9,000 for the Chicago junket; maybe they shouldn't be spending $5,000 for a trip to Las Vegas.
I strongly support reducing the council from 14 to seven. I hope my friends feel the same.

Elderly rely on township buses

TO THE EDITOR:
It has come to my attention that the Melville Strategic Management Review of Granite City should be taken over by other organizations.
Not knowing more about the study, I just want to let you know how the Granite City Township bus has been a great service to me this year.
I volunteer at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. My husband took me to SEMC and brought me home for 13 years. He became ill and could not take me. I am elderly, and it is too far for me to walk. I did walk several years ago, but appreciate the bus taking me now.

I do not know what the study will arrive at, but please think of the many elderly people in town that will be affected.
Whatever you do, please make it good for the elderly and handicapped people that really rely on the bus taking them to the doctor for appointments, to the grocery store, etc.
The bus makes the elderly feel independent because they do not have to ask friends to drive them to their doctor and above mentioned places.

Poor people need food help throughout year

TO THE EDITOR:
Dear residents of the Tri-Cities area:
Since the holiday season of 1988, I have been involved in a food program for the less fortunate of our area. Our yearly collection would run from the beginning of November through Christmas.
However, on Feb. 15, 1993, I happened upon a man and woman rooting through a trash bin, hunting for food.
I realized then that feeding the needy was not just limited to the holidays. This is a 365-days-a-year problem.
It doesn't go away for 10 months out of the year and then cruelly return at the holidays.
From Feb. 15, 1993, through Feb. 15, 1994, we have served more than 2,676 families. We have done this with a few donations from the community.
Those who have given, we give you a big thank you, but mostly (it has been) from our own resources.
To those we have helped, it has been a pleasure to be of assistance, and we wish you the very best.

4-way race in 111th District primary

Majority Leader Jim McPike, D-Alton, is retiring from the Illinois House of Representatives after his current term, and five candidates are vying to succeed him as the 111th District representative.

The field for Tuesday's primary election consists of one Republican, Theodore "Ted" Pehn, who is unopposed for the GOP nomination, and four Democrats.

The apparent Democratic front-runner, Steve Davis, has the backing of both the party's organization and a strong independent Democrat, Madison County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles. Davis originally announced he would oppose State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, if the ailing senator sought re-election. Davis' main supporter was McPike.

Vadalabene did decide to retire, but Bowles, retiring as county clerk, said she would run for the Senate nomination.

In a compromise, McPike opted to retire and endorsed Davis for his House seat and Bowles for the Senate; Davis endorsed Bowles and Bowles endorsed Davis.

Son of retired United Steelworkers District Director Buddy Davis, the House candidate currently is Wood River Township highway commissioner.

Bowles is unopposed, but opposing Davis in the primary are David Ayres, Cary R. Dunn and Floyd E. Fessler.

Describing himself as "a new kind of Democrat," Davis says he would demand more results for people's tax dollars and says the state cannot afford to fund every well-intentioned program.

Davis notes that he has had a balanced budget in each of his 12 years in public office. He would strive to extend the light-rail transit network and would fight crime and welfare waste.

Ayres would emphasize increased safety in schools, and would seek to protect elderly citizens from higher property taxes.

He proposes a sales tax increase on luxury goods to provide added funds for education.

Dunn proposes to work with the Small Business Administration to help attract new industries to this region.

Campaigning door-to-door, Dunn says he entered the race even before McPike bowed out and wants to provide more accessibility for the public. He opposes "politics as usual."

Fessler has run before against McPike and against the late U.S. Rep. Melvin Price.

He regards himself as an idealist and would seek to upgrade school funding, particularly for impoverished districts.

Pehn says he would work hard to promote this region and its economic development.

Pehn has owned a land development company and a construction firm and was instrumental in attracting businesses to the East Gate Plaza commercial area.

Plan to cut council on ballot Tuesday

Two nonpartisan local issues will be decided in Tuesday's election.

In Granite City, voters will decide if the city should reduce the number of aldermen to one-half the total authorized by state law. If the question passes, it would reduce the number of authorized aldermen from 14 to seven.

Granite City currently has 15 aldermen, two from each of its seven wards and one serving "at-large" as a result of ward redistricting.

All area voters will decide whether the maximum property tax rate for the Madison County Historical Museum should be raised from .002 percent to .004 percent.

If approved, the owner of a $30,000 home assessed at $10,000 would pay $4 a year rather than the current $2 a year for maintenance of the museum located in Edwardsville.

The nonpartisan issues appear on both the Democratic and Republican ballots. Nonpartisan ballots are available for those who do not want to declare a party preference.

2 races in 113th District

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

The race for state representative in the 113th District offering voters on the Democratic and Republican sides of the aisle a wide variety of options.

Democrats Thomas Holbrook and Chuck Oelrich, both of Belleville, will face off in the primary, as will Republicans Jim Keohner and Michael Cordes, both of Belleville.

Keohner, 58, said he is very familiar with "how Springfield works" and would like to conclude his 12 years of public service by representing area residents on the state level.

Keohner, a Belleville lawyer in private practice since 1980, spent a year heading the attorney general's environmental control division and 11 more years overseeing the East St. Louis branch office. "I have practiced law in the district for 34 years and I have been actively involved in public service during that time."

If elected, Keohner said he is committed to serving only two terms for a total of eight years.

"During that time, you would have a strong voice in Springfield, seeking to present and protect our Southern Illinois interests," he said.

He also said he is strongly concerned about crime and economic problems in the district and will keep those issues foremost in his mind.

Keohner holds bachelor's and law degrees from the University of Illinois in 1957 and 1959, respectively. He has three adult daughters.

Tips from Frank's experts on Soil Improvement

For more successful planting

FRANK'S®
NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Last Wednesday we discussed soil and what it actually is. We pointed out that most soils are clay, sand or silt, and were getting ready to tell you how to improve the soil you have. So let's continue!

Soil is improved by adding in organic matter, such as compost, peat-moss, chopped leaves, etc. Most soils already have some organic matter in them, but most likely not enough. You can easily add organic matter to the soil before planting. Adding it to clay soil improves drainage and aeration. In sandy soils, it improves water and nutrient retention. So your best bet is to spread a 2- to 3-inch layer of organic matter over the soil and mix it thoroughly before planting.

You've probably heard the term pH mentioned several times. Shampoo ads refer to it often, as do pool owners when talking about the water. When discussing soil, the term comes into the picture as well. The pH is actually a numerical value between 0 and 14 that describes the degree of acidity or alkalinity of something. And our something here is soil.

A pH reading of 7.0 is considered neutral; anything below that is acidic and anything above it is alkaline. Some call alkaline "sweet" while others refer to it as "basic."

Most nutrients residing in soil are available to plants when soil pH is between 6.0 and 7.0. Coincidentally, most plants grow best in that pH range. If the pH is too high or low, some nutrients won't be in the right form, and some plants won't be able to use them.

If your soil pH is too high or low, you do what pool owners do. Adjust it. Of course, you don't use the same stuff for soil as you do for water or vice versa. Limestone or dolomite lime can be used to raise soil pH, and organic matter such as peat moss is used to lower it.

Chemicals added to pool water take effect within a few hours, but it doesn't work that fast with soil. Plan on waiting a few weeks for results. A tip when using pulverized lime: wait for a calm day and use a drop spreader. The stuff's light and fine like talcum powder, and it will blow all over the place if you're not careful with it. Pelletized lime is easier to work with. It will stay put better on a windy day. It is actually beads of pulverized lime.

Granular lime is quite coarse, and it's much easier to apply. It will also last longer. The drawback is that it takes a lot longer to do its thing, usually several months.

An inexpensive soil test kit can make life much easier. It will tell you if you need to adjust soil pH or add other nutrients. We've stressed the importance of a test kit to the owners of pools, and it's an equally invaluable tool to gardeners as well.

Here are a few additional tips for working with soil. 1. Don't work soil that is too wet. That will destroy the soil structure and squash pore spaces, damaging the drainage. 2. Don't overwork it. Too much digging, tilling and spading breaks apart soil particles and naturally formed clumps. This changes the soil texture and reduces the number of large pore spaces. 3. Avoid compacting soils. This will decrease pore space and lead to poor drainage. Avoid parking cars or heavy equipment on the soil. 4. Modify the soil before planting. Organic matter, lime, plant food and the like is much easier to apply and is more effective when worked into the soil before planting.

What is wrong with using chemical fertilizers on my lawn?

Chemical fertilizers were designed to give plants a quick short-term boost of the major nutrients — nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium. Just like drugs, the short-term effect leads to an impulse to apply excessive amounts for better results. Cocaine was once proclaimed safe to use and was included in soft drinks. Likewise, we now have evidence that chemical fertilizers destroy beneficial soil life and lead to hardpan soil conditions.

500 expected at mayors' prayer breakfast March 22

Granite City School Superintendent Steve Balen will give a personal testimonial, Mayor Ron Selph will read Scripture, and Beverly Donnell will present two vocal solos next week at Granite City Rotarians' Annual Mayors' Prayer Breakfast.

The breakfast will begin at 7 a.m. Tuesday, March 22, at St. Gregory's Armenian Community Center, 10 Colonial Drive.

Five hundred business and community leaders are expected to attend.

The inspirational singer, Beverly Donnell, is special music director at Suburban Baptist Church, Granite City.

Nestle Plant Manager Jerry Bisopink will be master of ceremonies and the keynote speaker at the breakfast will be John Erickson, assistant commissioner and director of basketball operations for the Big Eight Conference of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Erickson, who resides in Overland Park, Kan., has served in the past as executive vice president and general manager of the Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association. He was also national president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes from 1972 to 1983.

A packed house of more than 350 attended last year's prayer breakfast at the Granite City Township Hall, where Astronaut Tom Akers was the keynote speaker.

Akers outlined the themes of the then-upcoming but now completed and successful space-shuttle mission to repair the Hubble Space Telescope.

Also at last year's event, Granite City Police Officer Mike Sparks gave a personal testimonial about how God changed his life.

"Our initial event last year was so successful that we had to

Alzheimer's support group meets Thursday

If your family or friends have been touched by Alzheimer's Disease, you can come and share your questions and concerns at the Alzheimer's Support Group meeting at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The group will meet Thursday, March 17, from 6:30 to 8 p.m., in the President's Room, inside Bonaventure's Cafeteria, on the ground floor of the medical center. The group meets on the third Thursday of each month, at the same time and location. All meetings are open to community members.

The disease brings with it an enormous amount of stress, tension and a demand for a level of care most people cannot imagine.

Attorney Paul Lauber will speak about the legal and financial concerns faced by caregivers of Alzheimer's patients.

The support group's aim is to provide education and support for caregivers. The group can let people know what help is available to them in the community, and by sharing experiences, participants can find out what to expect and ways to manage difficult behaviors. By hearing about other people's experiences they get a chance to compare what is happening, to see what is normal behavior for Alzheimer's patients.

"One of the most important aspects of coping with the disease is for the family members to know they are not alone," said Kathy Higley, executive director of the St. Louis chapter of the Alzheimer's Association. "There is help and local support groups are among the most effective ways to find it."

The Alzheimer's Support Group at SEMC has access to information and literature on Alzheimer's ranging from updates on research to everyday suggestions on how families can cope. The group is affiliated with the national Alzheimer's Association.

If you have any questions, or would like additional information, please contact St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Social Work Department at 798-3018.

seek larger quarters for the 1994 Mayors' Prayer Breakfast," said Rotarian Ray Morgan, chairman of the event.

"Mr. Erickson has excellent credentials and will be a tremendous asset to our program."

Tickets for the event are $10 and are available from any Granite City Rotary Club member.

Tables of eight also are available.

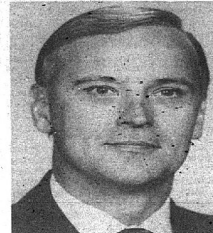

For more information, persons may call Morgan at 931-7000, Bill Terrell at 877-6383 or Jeff Prosser at 452-5040.

Netsch is only candidate to appear at forum here

The educators were ready with their questions, but two of the three front-runners for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination were absent from a candidates' education forum Wednesday.

The forum, jointly sponsored by the Illinois Education Association, the Illinois Federation of Teachers and the Illinois Association of Regional Superintendents of Schools, was the only such event of the primary campaign, which will conclude with Tuesday's election.

About 50 people attended the forum at Granite City High School.

Answering present for the forum was Illinois Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch, who has made additional state support for education the key theme of her campaign.

She was joined on stage by John Whitney, a political science instructor at Lincoln Land Community College in Springfield, who represented Illinois Attorney General Roland Burris.

Madison County Regional School Superintendent Harry Briggs, host for the forum, said both Burris and the third candidate invited to participate, Cook County Board President Richard Phelan, claimed other commitments.

Briggs called Burris a long-time friend of education but ripped into Phelan.

"I'm offended that he apparently does not think that education is important enough to at least send a representative."

Phelan also missed a lecture from Netsch, who has been a state senator and law professor. She said Phelan describes the schools as a failed system and has said he would hold more money until they got better.

"If I felt that way, I'd pack up and leave," she said. She said education is "the most important thing that we who are in the public sector can affect at all."

Netsch said quality education can help reduce crime, improve the economy and prepare people for good jobs, but many Illinois schools lack the resources to offer adequate instruction.

She said the state needs to restore solid and reliable financial support for the schools.

Netsch advocates a $2.5 billion increase in state income tax revenues to increase education funding by $1 billion, pay for a $1 billion reduction in property taxes statewide and cover about $500 million in greater exemptions to ease the effect on low- and middle-income taxpayers.

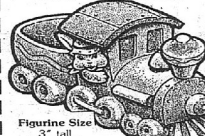

Netsch campaign officials released figures earlier Wednesday indicating Madison County schools would receive an additional $27 million per year under the Netsch plan.

Netsch said her plan would immediately up the state's share of education funding to about 38 percent from 34 percent.

Races

Cordes, 52, is looking for government to help society return to "traditional family values" in the school and on the streets.

Describing himself as a conservative Republican, Cordes said he wants to make people feel safe in their neighborhoods again. He urged tougher restrictions on criminals.

"I'm for gun control but we should take the guns away from the criminals, not law-abiding citizens," he said.

Cordes, a realtor, said his background in economic development also will help bring more business into the area. He spent 10 years as executive director of various community and economic development programs in the St. Louis and Metro-East.

He also holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Arizona and a master's degree from the University of Oklahoma.

Holbrook, 44, said he has a proven track record of service during his 13 years on the St. Clair County Board, and he wants to continue his fight as a state representative.

"My goal is to make our community a better place to live and raise our families. Furthermore, I want good jobs, low crime and quality educational opportunities in the Metro East," he said.

During his tenure, he said he has shown his fight against crime by pushing for two new jail expansions and the creation of more neighborhood watch programs.

On the state level, he wants to increase penalties for violent criminals, especially violent leers, and push for more state funding of education to help discourage crime.

Holbrook also is interested in drawing more good-paying, quality jobs to the area by attracting major projects such as Scott Joint, the Metrolink, the Magway Bank expansion and other recent endeavors.

Oelrich, 61, prides himself on being a leader who is not afraid to sometimes "ruffle the feathers of some political leaders."

"I've been involved in government and politics all my adult life, and I believe it's one of the highest forms of service you can perform," he said.

As a state representative, Oelrich said he will focus on crime and economic conditions in the state, especially when it comes to spending money in the best, most fair way.

"We have to address the causes of this crime," he said. "We have too large a segment of our population who would love to be gainfully employed and keep their families together so our economic situation is one we really have to look at."

Oelrich, who has been Belleville Township supervisor for the past year, spent 28 years as an active duty and service member of the Air Force. He also has been very active in local groups, including as a Scoutmaster with the Boy Scouts, and as a VFW commander. He also has worked with the American Cancer Society.

leaders continue to come forth in the community to take a leadership role.

Mother Teresa is not here. But we are," Konzen said. The first campaign to receive more than $1 million in pledges was held in 1990. Jack Lee III headed that drive.

Jerry Biscopink was the 1993 campaign chairman. In spite of a summer flood that ravaged the area and consumed many of the community's resources, that drive drew the community together in a "giving spirit" and raised more than $1,100,000, Biscopink said.

The following individuals were elected to the United Way board of directors for 1994-1996:

Perry Butler, SSI Services; Kathy Clark, Granite City Steel; Tom Colbourne, Capri Sun; Paul Costello, Granite City Steel; Lisa Fanning, United Steelworkers of America Local 67; John Fruit, Magna Bank; Dan Hannah, Waste Management of Metro East; Rick Jarvis, Granite City Press-Record/Journal; Jack Johnson, A.O. ## SIUE building on hold

Engineering school proposal not in Edgar budget

Despite moving up to seventh on the state Board of Higher Education priority list, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville apparently will have to wait at least another year for funding of a School of Engineering building under Gov. Jim Edgar's proposed budget.

Other building projects that were ranked below the SIUE project on the state board's list, including the Gilman Hall project, were included in Edgar's budget proposal for the fiscal year that starts July 1.

Edgar declined to include the $20.6 million SIUE request because of the cost and "also some questions on timing and geographical balance."

"We determined some of these buildings can't be done that soon, and we also wanted to see some geographical balance. I've been to the Edwardsville campus a number of times, and they've done pretty well since I've been governor," Edgar said.

Two other big-ticket projects, a $29.2 million science laboratory building at Illinois State University and a $19.7 million South Campus development at the University of Illinois at Chicago, were included in Edgar's budget. They also received low state board priority rankings.

Harlan Bengtson, acting dean of the SIUE engineering school, said he was sorry to hear his building was not in Edgar's budget. "But we'll get along this way for another year, and I hope we have positive news next year."

Bengtson said he had been concerned about competing with a $12.8 million engineering annex at SIU at Carbondale, ranked one notch above the SIUE building on the priority list. Both were unlikely to be picked for funding this year because they are in the same university system, he said.

Since the Carbondale building was included in this year's budget plan, the SIUE school is in a good position for next year, Bengtson said.

SIUE previously received the money to plan and design its new engineering building, which would have a total equipped cost of about $26 million.

Engineering has been one of SIUE's fastest-growing programs, jumping from 37 undergraduates when it started in 1968 to 588 undergraduate and 132 graduate students last year.

The budget also includes construction money for Alton Mental Health and Developmental Center, Pere Marquette Youth Center and Pere Marquette State Park.

The Alton center would get another $557,000 to complete an approximate $1 million rehabilitation of storm and sanitary sewers.

The budget includes $150,000 to complete a $390,000 confinement unit at the Department of Corrections youth center near Grafton.

The governor also proposed $18 million to rehabilitate flood-damaged water and sewer systems at Pere Marquette State Park near Grafton.

Public help sought on historic bridges

The Illinois Department of Transportation is seeking public assistance in developing a statewide inventory of historic highway bridges.

Any individual or organization having knowledge of a highway bridge which might be eligible for this inventory may contact any of the nine highway district offices in the state or the individual county highway engineer offices for instructions for submitting data on highway bridges.

The department recently compiled data on approximately 400 highway bridges having historic significance. These structures were selected from a statewide data base of more than 25,000 functioning bridges. This data base does not include closed or abandoned highway bridges, some of which could qualify for the historic inventory.

These highway bridges on the inventory will be managed under provisions of the National Preservation Act of 1966 and the Illinois State Agency Historic Resources Preservation Act of 1989. These laws provide for consultation with historic preservation agencies when removal or alteration of historic properties is proposed.

Seder demonstration set for March 23 at SIUE

Ed Fogel, internationally celebrated Jewish cantor, will return to the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to lead the annual Seder demonstration on Wednesday, March 23, at 6:30 p.m.

The Seder meal has been celebrated for centuries in Jewish homes. Many scholars believe that Jesus' Last Supper was a Seder. The meal celebrates God's presence with his people, and is a meal of hope and promise.

A dinner is included in the celebration, and all are welcome, although seating is limited. The Seder celebration is sponsored by the ministries of the University Religious Council—The Shurtleff Baptist Campus Ministry, Lutheran Campus Ministry (LCMS), the Roman Catholic Campus Ministry, the United Christian Foundation and the Wesley Foundation of the United Methodist Church.

"It's time for a fundamental change in the way state government does business."

In the last decade, we have seen a revolution in American business. Companies and workers are joining together to emphasize quality, service, and performance.

Steve Davis believes we need to apply those same principles to state government, including:

- ◆ Customer service training for state employees.
- ◆ Setting clear performance goals for state agencies.
- ◆ Initiating strict cost-cutting measures in state agencies.
- ◆ Analyzing every state program on a regular basis to determine if it should be renewed, modified or even eliminated.
- ◆ Cutting red tape and waste.

"The people of Illinois are demanding more professionalism from state government, more service from state employees and more results for their tax dollars."

Lombardi's Small Business of Month

For more than 30 years, Bob and Kathy Lombardi have been serving customers in all phases of interior decorating and home decor.

Lombardi Furniture, 2266 Madison Ave., has been named the Small Business of the Month by the Small Business Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Bob Lombardi, who earned a business degree at St. Louis University, said he always knew he wanted to have a business of his own.

He got the opportunity when Willard Simpson decided to sell his paint store on 23rd Street and Bob and Kathy Lombardi became the new owners. At first, paint and wallpaper made up the bulk of the business. Then Bob Lombardi started picture framing, initially at home after hours.

Eventually, the business expanded into carpeting, draperies, accessories and window treatment.

Then, about 15 years ago, the business moved to its current location and added furniture and a larger line of carpeting and accessories.

In November 1990, the Lombardis made a major change in the format of their business. They closed the paint department and expanded the furniture, carpet, and ceramic and wood floor covering.

Carpet sales, especially to contractors, were growing and that side of the business expanded to meet the demand. Custom-design service has become an extensive part of the business.

Kathy Lombardi is a state-registered interior designer—a title earned through years of experience and education. She can assist customers in selecting a complete decor, including wall paper, flooring, furniture, paintings, accessories and window treatment, including blinds, shades, shutters and drapery.

Bob and Kathy Lombardi said their goal is to offer members of the community everything needed for their home without having to leave their hometown. "This goal could not have been achieved without the help of a great work force," Kathy Lombardi said.

"We take great pride in our designers, carpet installers, drapery fabricators, drapery installers, delivery crew and front office. Lombardi Furniture encourages browsers, because Kathy and Bob Lombardi say the visitors to their store will find competitive prices and fine quality products and service that speak for themselves.

What to do when stock market declines

Just what is going on in the stock market these days? For the average person who is not active in following or understanding "the market," there are conflicting signals being sent every day in the business section of newspapers. One would think that, with so much positive news about the economy that has been coming in for months, the stock market would be moving higher instead of lower.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average as of March 3 was trading at 3,320. This is down 158 points from just a month ago when the Dow hit an all-time high of 3,970.

The decrease is driven by the word the market hates most: inflation.

The economy has been growing steadily over the past year as demand for consumer products increased. To keep the economy in balance, and to avoid inflation getting out of control, the Federal Reserve Board has bumped up interest rates.

Brian Mulhall

This works against the stock market in the short-term because, as individual investors see interest rates rising, there is a tendency to pull money away from riskier stocks and place it in more guaranteed, interest-bearing accounts.

Just as millions of individuals moved away from bank certificates of deposit over the past several years in search of higher returns, the same could occur in the stock market.

If the public feels that higher interest rates are coming back, they may go for the guarantee a CD offers and pull out of stocks. Rising interest rates also work against mutual bond funds. How so? Well, if one purchases a mutual bond fund today yielding 5 percent and interest rates then rise, the bonds they now hold are not as attractive as a new issue paying more interest.

Thus, if one were to liquidate an account holding lower interest bonds, you must sell at a discount in order to make the bonds as attractive as the higher interest bonds.

So, what in the world is one supposed to do today with monies already invested or looking for a new investment?

The first thing you must ask yourself is when do you need the money. If the answer is short-term, within two years, then keep it liquid in the money market, CD, or savings accounts. You have no business being in the market with monies that are needed for a rainy day.

If your investment horizon is medium term, three to five years, then look for balanced mutual funds that are more conservative and perform well in both bull market and bear market economies.

Beyond a five-year holding period, history has told us that growth is the only place to be if one wants to beat inflation.

Monies in your company's retirement plan or Individual Retirement Funds should have an emphasis on growth, as you can assume it will be many years before you want to begin spending these dollars.

The same applies to couples with young children trying to save for a college education. A little common sense and patience can go a long way in the investment arena.

All investments have time horizons, and the key is matching that time horizon to your goal.

Do not panic during market drops. Since 1900, there have been 50 declines of 10 percent or more and 15 of those declines were 25 percent or more.

Perhaps the biggest mistake made by individual investors is selling out after a major collapse, and then waiting too long to get back in.

Brian Mulhall is a partner with America Group Financial Services. He can be reached in Granite City at 931-7922.

300 participate in JETS academic challenge

About 300 students from 18 area high schools recently participated in the 15th annual district Illinois JETS Academic Challenge at Belleville Area College.

Divisions III (schools with fewer than 800 students) winners were Gbault High School in Waterloo in first place and Lebanon High School in second place. Teams from each school were tested in academic areas such as mathematics, chemistry, English, physics, engineering graphics, biology, and computer fundamentals. Teams scoring the most points were to compete at the regional competition at SIUE on March 1. The regional winners will advance to the state finals March 21-23 at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

Six thousand students representing more than 400 high schools in Illinois and Texas compete in the JETS Academic Challenge each year.

In the district competition at BAC, in Division I (schools with 700 or more students), the O'Fallon High School team won first place, Belleville East High School won second place and Belleville West High School won third place.

In Division II (schools with fewer than 700 students), the Freeburg High School team won first place, Althoff Catholic High School in Belleville won second place, and Red Bud High School won third place.

Head Start program receives accreditation

Family Service and Visiting Nurse Association Venice Head Start is among the growing number of Head Start programs in the United States to be accredited by the National Academy of Early Childhood Programs.

The Academy recognizes outstanding Early Childhood Programs which meet national standards of quality. F.S.V.N.A. Venice Head Start, located at 502 Broadway, Venice, IL, serves 102 children from ages three to five, according to its director Lunita Allen.

"Accreditation helps answer the question, 'What is a quality Head Start/child care program?'" said Dr. Marilyn Smith, executive director of the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), the nation's oldest and largest association of early childhood professionals, which sponsors the Academy. "Most parents want to find the highest quality program for their young children, however, few parents know how to assess whether a program meets more than just the minimum standards required by state licensing."

The Academy's standards were developed over a three-year period, with input from thousands of educators and administrators from across the country. In 1985, the first program was accredited by NAEYC. Now, in 1993, there are over 2500 programs from across the country, including the U.S. Military installations around the world, that have been accredited by the Academy.

Accreditation is not meant to replace parents' on-site visits to centers as a means of selecting the program that best meets their child's needs," Smith said, "but accreditation does help parents recognize the varied components that should be present in a quality program."

To become accredited, the Venice Head Start had to meet a variety of strict criteria related to providing a developmentally appropriate program for children ages three to five. These criteria range from having a well-qualified and trained staff, to meeting stringent health and safety standards. In addition, the program must provide opportunities for parental involvement.

"Accreditation includes an on-site study of the program by professional validators and a final review by a three-member panel of commissioners who are experts in the field of early childhood education. The nationwide accreditation of early childhood programs, such as Family Service and Visiting Nurse Association Venice Head Start, benefits parents, children, program personnel, and society."

Local student to attend conference

Lee Rollins of Granite City has been selected to attend the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C.

The National Young Leaders Conference is a "hands-on" leadership development program for outstanding high school students who have demonstrated leadership potential and scholastic merit.

Rollins, a junior at Granite City Senior High School, will be among 350 students attending the conference from across America.

The theme of the National Young Leaders Conference is "The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today." Throughout the six-day conference, Rollins will interact with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps.

Highlights of the program include welcoming remarks from a member of Congress on the Floor of the House of Representatives and a panel discussion with prominent journalists at the National Press Club. Students will visit foreign embassies and receive policy briefings from senior government officials. Rollins may also meet with Senator Carol Moseley-Braun, Senator Paul Simon and Representative Jerry Costello, or designated members of their staff, to discuss important issues facing Granite City and the nation.

To complement these special meetings and briefings, Rollins will participate in a number of leadership skill-building activities. In one activity, "Foreign Policy and the President," students role-play the President and members of the Cabinet who must respond to an international crisis in the Balkans. Culminating the conference is the Mock Congress on National Service, in which students assume the roles of United States Representatives by debating, amending and voting on proposed service legislation.

The National Young Leaders Conference is sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council, a non-profit, non-partisan education organization.

Relatives of the victim testified that Harrigan was a very generous and kind person who attended church regularly and was devoted to his family. He was working at the store temporarily while trying to open his own business.

Keller's mother, Debra Keller, testified that her son worked part-time jobs to help with expenses around their home.

"I believe in my son," she said. "He had no intentions of killing anyone. He was a big set-up. He never had any idea what those other boys were going to do."

Keller also testified he did not plan to rob or murder Harrigan. "I had no idea they would rob a store," Keller sobbed. "My stomach was turned upside down. I'm sorry."

Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Susan Jensen, who prosecuted Keller, requested a 45-year prison sentence, citing Keller's lack of remorse and respect for authority.

Keller's attorney, Thomas Hildebrand, requested the minimum 20-year sentence. He said Keller played a minimal role in the shooting and cooperated with police.

Jackowski, 16, formerly of St. Jacob, is awaiting trial. Authorities said he has confessed to pulling the trigger.

Long, who befriended Jackowski in the Hauke, Ind., jail, already pleaded guilty to the charges in exchange for a promise from the state not to seek more than a 30-year prison sentence.

Election

cll. A referendum seeks to reduce the number of aldermen from 14 to seven.

Topping Tuesday's ballot is the governor's race. Three powerful Democrats—Comptroller David Clark Netch, Attorney General Roland W. Burris and Cook County Board President Richard Daley—are vying for their party's nomination, along with James Elroy Glerach and Lyndon LaRouche follower Sheila A. Jones.

The winner will almost certainly face incumbent Jim Edgar, who should have no problem turning aside a challenge in the Republican primary from Jack Roser.

The Democratic primary also will feature contested races for lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, comptroller and treasurer.

Republican voters will choose a candidate for attorney general, but candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of state, comptroller and treasurer have no opposition.

Polls open at 6 a.m., and close at 7 p.m.

In the federal arena, Republicans Jay Morris and Larry Richard Welsch are vying for the seat of the new policy, Haine said. The new policy, Haine said, his office will attempt to seize any vehicle used for illegal dumping.

Motorists who are caught dumping materials already could face misdemeanor charges with fines up to $50,000, but Haine said fines that high are rarely imposed.

"There are plenty of landfills and public works facilities that will accept unwanted trash," Haine said. "There is no longer an excuse for this lazy and illegal conduct."

"People have had it. They're tired of the garbage," Williams said. Williams said Venice has several areas that have been turned improperly into roadside dumps. The combination of rising costs at landfills and the fact that many Missouri communities have by-the-bag trash charges have made those illegal dumping areas even more popular, he said.

Williams said that taking a person's car or truck "may get it away from them, but it can't just dump their trash on us."

"You can bet I'm going to do all I can to take these people's cars," Haine's new policy comes on the heels of Williams' own tough policy on trash.

Williams, who was appointed in January, announced last month that he would begin citing every family with trash in their yard or alley, regardless of whether they are or who they're related to.

He said last week that the police "People have really started doing something," Williams said.

Signs

opposed such an ordinance, saying sign regulations in effect regulated the amount of business they could attract.

R C Bush, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, was the only member of the public to speak on the proposal at a hearing Thursday night prior to the Plan Commission meeting.

"If you would poll the business community, I think you would find they don't want a sign ordinance," Bush said.

"But that is not the reason I am here. I think we can do this. This is needed for safety, appearance and protection of adjacent properties," Bush said.

He said he "strongly objects" to only two provisions of the ordinance, one restricting to 150 square feet the size of signs advertising large commercial buildings and one preventing the use of a non-conforming sign after its use has been discontinued for a period of 30 days.

"There is a trend toward larger structures, and this test is not adequate," Bush said of the size restriction.

"It would not be fair to prohibit a new business from having what an existing business already has," he said.

Zoning Administrator Glen Hollis said the intent of the ordinance is to create uniformity among signs.

He said that, eventually, all grandfathered non-conforming signs would be eliminated. To allow them to be replaced with non-conforming signs would defeat the purpose.

Bush cited the now-defunct Central Hardware sign at the entrance to Crossroads Plaza as an example of a non-conforming sign that has not been used for 30 days or more.

"The structure could still be useful. We think you should reconsider that and make exceptions for a sound structure built before the ordinance was passed," Bush said.

Wade said he would like to see enough to see through all the confusion, "see things as they really are and then do the right thing."

Wade, 49, lives in the 400 block of Lincoln Avenue and has lived in Venice for about 18 years. He has been employed in the Security Division at Granite City Steel for more than 20 years.

He is a graduate of Lincoln South High School in East St. Louis and is a veteran of the U.S. Navy. He and his wife have two children.

Wade was first appointed to the Venice School Board to fill a vacancy in 1977 and was elected to a one-year term in 1978. In 1979, he lost a close bid for reelection, but was subsequently reappointed next year to fill another vacancy.

Wade was re-elected to the board several times, serving

Republican candidates on the ballot are Theodore "Ted" Prehn for 11th State Representative District, John Shinkins for 12th, incumbent Republican — for Madison County Treasurer and Jack Vahle for Madison County Clerk.

On the Democratic side, voters will select the party nominees for two state representative districts, three county offices and two county board districts.

Four Democratic candidates are in the race for the 11th State Representative District — the seat now held by Rep. Jim McKelvey. They are Steve Davis, David Ayres, Gary Dunn and Floyd Fessler, all of the greater Alton area.

The 13th State Representative District, the seat now held by Philm, is a two-way race for the Democrats between Chuck Odell and Tom Holbrook, both of Belleville.

For Madison County Clerk, Democratic voters will decide between Debbie Salich of Granite City and Stephanie Robbins of Belleville. Robbins is leaving the clerk's office and is an unopposed Democratic candidate for the 26th State Senate District.

For the 26th State Senate District, Sen. Sam Vadalabene. The Democratic race for Madison County Treasurer has former County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus of Bethalto facing incumbent County Treasurer and Jim Foley of Granite City.

For Madison County Sheriff, incumbent Sheriff Bob Churchich of Alton faces Don Knight of Granite City for the Democratic nomination.

In County Board District 22, incumbent Junior Milton is being challenged by Gary Miller and Tom Stubbish. All three Democrats are from Granite City.

In the Democratic race for County Board District 20, incumbent Don Rea of Pontoon Beach faces Ronald Gallas, also of Pontoon Beach.

The Democratic race for lieutenant governor includes Sheila Smith, running with Burris; Penny Severns, running with Philm; and Anthony Harper, the LaRouche candidate.

For attorney general, Marty Oberman faces Al Hoidel in the Democratic race.

The Democratic race for secretary of state includes incumbent State Treasurer Pat Quinn against Denny Jacobs, a state senator from Peoria, and Rose Marie Love, the LaRouche candidate.

For comptroller, the Democratic candidates are Edward Schumann, Earlean Collins, Mark Kene and Mark Bener, the LaRouche candidate.

For Treasurer, the Democratic candidates are Nancy Drew Sheehan and Thomas Beudette, the LaRouche candidate.

"I carry my camera everywhere I go. When I come by with my camera, people realize they're going to get cited. And they clean up."

"I was at a place with my camera yesterday and when I saw a bunch of stuff was gone. I didn't even have to say anything. They saw me and just cleaned it up."

While Williams said he is very pleased with the effort so far, he said he will remain tough "until every yard and alley in the city is clean."

"I know there are going to be some unhappy people that there is going to be a lot of whining, but I've got to do my job and my job is to enforce the law."

"I'm getting the word out to the people now that yards will be cleaned. If the person is elderly or disabled and can't do it themselves, they need to let me know and I'll find them something."

"But I'm not going to have trash collecting in Venice any more."

"Other than that, we can live with it."

Plan Commission Chairman Tom Hewlett said the proposed ordinance has a provision for an appeal process in the case of exceptional situations, such as the structure that once held the Central Hardware sign.

The proposed ordinance restricts the size of political campaign signs to six square feet.

Political signs may be placed only on private property and may only be displayed for a period beginning 30 days prior to an election and ending three days after the election, under the terms of the proposal.

Plan Commission members Hewlett, Dennis Ross, Charlie Pains, Loren Davis, Sandy Shaw, Charles Meyer and Bob Besselt voted to recommend that the City Council adopt the ordinance.

Voting against the measure were members Joe Ribbing and Bill McCain.

"I was a little nervous at first," he said. "But once I got into it, I was all right."

The remainder of the competition fared as follows: Michael Harmon of East St. Louis made six; Taylorville's Kyle Werve hit five; and Edwardsville's Stacey Vaughan made two.

Black, who set a school record this year with 68 treys, came up a bit short, coach John Van Buskirk said.

"Jason knew he had to make nine or 10," Van Buskirk said. "This was just icing on the cake. This was a good honor for him to make it this far."

Black finished his GCHS career by averaging nearly 17 points and shooting 48 percent from three-point land.

DR. DAVID AYRES—Democrat For State Representative

Dear Friend:

I am running for State Representative because I too am concerned about the problems of unemployment, education, welfare abuse, health care reform and crime in our area.

I am the son of "Lefty" and Laverne Ayres of Alton. I am married to the former Nancy Scallies of Wood River, a teacher at East Alton-Wood River High School. We live in Wood River and I am a Chiropractic Physician specializing in sports injuries.

With today's concerns voters are demanding better educated and more professional representation in Springfield. Voters also want a Representative that is accessible and responsive to their needs here at home.

My educational background and work experience will provide better representation in areas of health care, management, financial budgeting, veterans' affairs and senior citizens concerns.

Paid for by Citizens for Ayres — Gary D. Hagen, Treasurer

To win this primary, I need the help of everyone who wants a real change for good government. I have a record of HELPING PEOPLE and will serve with PRIDE and DIGNITY.

I would appreciate your vote on Tuesday, March 15.

Sincerely,

David

Eat green, society urges

Instead of just wearing green on St. Patrick's Day, the American Cancer Society wants you to eat green.

That's because this year's Great American Lowfat Pig-Out, held on the third Thursday in March, falls on St. Patrick's Day.

Modeled after the Great American Smokeout, the Great American Lowfat Pig-Out is an annual, light-hearted celebration of the foods that may reduce the risk of cancer.

On Lowfat Pig-Out Day, the American Cancer Society joins with schools, hospitals, businesses, grocery stores, restaurants and communities across Illinois to encourage the public to "pig out" on foods that are low in fat, high in fiber.

ENTERTAINMENT

Horoscope

Trading places with a neighbor or co-worker doesn't seem out of the question when envious Venus aligns with Mars. While you are noting the pros and cons of your present romantic and career situations, you might take time to listen to a friend's perspective — you'll see the exact road you need to take. Counteract Mercury's slide through Aquarius by checking and rechecking your work.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Listening to friends or reading gives you clues for a healthier future. Entertainment resonates to the tune of your own creative mind use this as an opportunity to link up with other artists.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). A happy home life provides a relaxed setting for you and guests. Twice-told tales change slightly take notice. A friend needs approval more than advice. Slip away to make plans and set goals.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You strive to be understood by a difficult family member and wish up with his or her financial support. Keep tabs on a cohort who is on the up-and-up — he or she could probably use your skills.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Make calls to distant family members and friends — new information adds insight to your creative mechanisms. Transference of your feelings is likely — go into emotional situations with your eyes open.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23). Right now, you could show up a hot-shot friend if you want to, but you will likely take the classy route and let time tell your story. Arrange dinners. A lover is moved by your compliments.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Break down — let your significant other take some control instead of shouldering the responsibility alone. A leap of faith benefits you emotionally, though you might not be able to tell right now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). A gift or favor comes your way as sweetness trickles down through the family. If you are enthusiastic enough, this will happen more often. New romantic meetings abound for singles who are out on the town tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Authorities offer to make a small wish come true — but hold out because grants for bigger wishes are around the corner. Well-behaved children are evidence of a teacher's wise workings. Say thank you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Leave your plans rather loose — travel opportunities could pop up at the last minute. You deal with an unusual gesture in a very ordinary way and gain the acceptance of an eccentric friend.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Benefits flourish when you let your friends know you are weighing the positives against the negatives in a relationship. Drop hints, and presents arrive later in the week. Call your parents.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). A doubting Thomas joins your side in a family dispute when you demonstrate your point once more. Childhood is tolerable in love — not in business. Hold fast to your asking price — don't give in.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Let yourself be a little moody, and by noon, your spirits are soaring. You'll discover what was missing from a love relationship and take steps to fill that void. Parental duty calls — don't shirk your responsibility.

Zeder's 'Step On A Crack' slated for SIUE stage March 21

Playwright Susan Zeder's poignant story of a young girl's escape into fantasy, "Step On A Crack," will be staged at 7:30 p.m. March 21 on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Part of SIUE's A Season for the Child, the play tells the story of Ellie Murphy who has lived happily alone with her widower father, but now must cope with a new stepmother. With the help of her two "imaginary friends," Lana and Frizbee, Ellie escapes to a fantasy world as she tries to avoid her real problems.

They romp through "prison breaks," Cinderella, Snow White, and Ellie's own funeral, where "everyone is really sorry for all the mean things they did..." Only after running away and realizing what it really means to be alone does Ellie come to terms with herself.

'Assassins' to be staged

Stephen Sondheim's comic musical "Assassins," a thought-provoking glimpse at the desperate histories of assassins and would-be assassins of U.S. Presidents, will be staged at 7:30 p.m. March 24-26 and at 2 p.m. March 27, all in the James F. Metcalf Theater on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The musical is produced by and will be performed by members of the SIUE Student Experimental Theater Organization.

According to director Laura Soldan, "Sondheim's marvelous musical fantasy explores the dark side of the American ethic of individualism through characterizations of the nine people from John Wilkes Booth to John Hinckley Jr. — who have attempted or succeeded in assassinating a president."

"This is a dark comedy that explores dreams," Soldan said. "Sondheim gives us a look into a group of misfits who have used extreme methods to gain recognition within a society that has spurned them. Through their desperate actions, they have attempted to achieve another version of the American dream."

Sausage links flavor with all-day versatility

If that roll of sausage in the refrigerator is languishing, cook it tonight for dinner. That does not mean serving it with scrambled eggs and toast. There are as many different ways to enjoy fresh pork sausage as there are appetites.

Many people prefer to skip the sausage at breakfast, but still would like to enjoy its flavor now and then. Adding it to a main dish is one way to provide its satisfaction.

To cut as much fat as possible, cook and drain the meat before adding other ingredients. Pork sausage adds satisfying flavor in recipes like sausage and cheese manicotti, sausage-stuffed apples, Spanish rice and stew.

Annamaria's Pasta is inspired by flavors from southern Italy. It calls for hot sausage or Italian sausage for authentic bite. Classic French Soup is flavorful with sausage and beans, broth and tomatoes and is fragrantly ready in less than 30 minutes.

- 1 lb. hot pork sausage or Italian sausage
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 can (14.5 oz.) whole tomatoes, chopped
- 1 cup dry white wine
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Salt to taste
- 1 lb. uncooked rigatoni, mostaccioli or ziti pasta

Cook pasta according to package directions.

In large skillet, cook sausage until just browned. Drain off fat. Add onion and garlic. Cook several minutes. Stir in tomatoes with their juice and wine. Simmer about 20 minutes until most liquid has evaporated.

Reduce heat. Stir in sour cream. Season with salt. Toss with freshly cooked pasta. Serve immediately.

Makes 6 servings.

SAUSAGE CASSOULET SOUP

- 1 lb. Italian sausage links, cut in 1 inch pieces
- 1 medium onion, chopped
